WASHINGTON — The Treasury Department said Monday that two American businesses are among 52 "front" companies it has identified as part of Saddam Hussein's worldwide financial and arms trading network.

The department also named 37 individuals, none based in the United States, who it said acted as middlemen for the Iraqi government in using the companies to hide billions of dollars that Saddam's family skimmed from Iraq's oil revenues.

The front companies were used to buy weapons, tools, spare parts and chine, officials said.

Iraqi troops still occupy Kuwaiti land

ABDALY, Kuwait — More than a month after President Bush declared Kuwait liberated, Iraqi forces still control a small pocket of the emirate's territory, a Kuwaiti tank commander said Monday.

About 300 Iraqi soldiers remain inside Kuwait, just south of the Iraqi port of Um Qasr, Capt. Nasser Al-Duwaila said. He badly wants to get them out.

"This is our land," said Al-Duwaila, the acting commander of Kuwait's 7th Armored Battalion. "Kuwait is not free if there is one Iraqi soldier on our land."

Al-Duwaila said there were no Kuwaiti officers in authority when allied units first moved into the area, apparently producing brief uncertainty about the border's location.

"This is a big mistake here," Al-Duwaila recalled telling allied officers when he reached the area. "They said, 'No, there's a

They have built new roads "so they can say to the world, 'these are our roads, this is our area," he said. "Their plan is to cut up our land piece by piece."

The matter has been brought to the attention of allied headquarters in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

One of the senior U.S. Army commanders along the border area, Col. Bill Nash of the 3rd Armored Division's Brigade, said he knew of the Kuwaiti complaints but expressed no interest in getting involved.

"Our task is to defend the DML (the demarcation line established at the end of hostilities), not the international boundary," he said. "I'm where I'm supposed to be, and nobody has intruded into my

Communists claim victory in Albania

TIRANA, Albania — Communists claimed a convincing victory Monday in Albania's historic multiparty elections, but the opposition scored wins in all major cities and beat President Ramiz Alia in his parliamentary race.

The main opposition Democratic Party conceded it had garnered fewer than one-third of the seats in the legislature, but predicted the Communists would soon lose their grip on power anyway.

Sunday's election effectively ended one-party rule in Albania, which had been the last hard-line Communist holdout in Europe.

The Party of Labor, as the Communists call themselves, said it won about raigned Friday, allowed to post

The opposition had been euphoric late Sunday as initial results showed it doing well in Albania's cities, but it later became clear the Communists would keep the power they have guarded for 46 years.

It was unclear whether the Communists and the opposition could cooperate in the legislature after the election, which split Albania's 3.2 million people along geographic and demographic lines. One of the Democrats' leaders, Sali Berisha, told about 3,000 supporters at a rally outside party headquarters that there "will be no coalition" with the Communists.

Court rules against segregated juries

WASHINGTON — White defendants are entitled to new trials if convicted by juries from which blacks were excluded because of their race, the Supreme

By a 7-2 vote, the court said prosecutors violate the Constitution if they bar prospective jurors for racial reasons — even when the defendant and the excluded jurors are of different races.

The justices ordered further lower court hearings to determine whether blacks were barred unlawfully from the Ohio jury which convicted Larry Joe Powers, who is white, of two murders. The court also granted a hearing to a convicted Delaware killer who says the jury which sentenced him to death wrongly took into account his membership in a white-supremacist gang. The court is expected to decide in 1992 whether the jury violated his First Amendment right to associate with whomever he pleases. The ruling requires the prosecutor to prove an absence of racial bias regardless of the race of the prospective jurors or the defendant.

Booster rocket explodes during testing

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — A new version of the Titan IV booster rocket exploded Monday during its first test firing, officials said.

There were no injuries and the explosion presented no danger to communities near the Antelope Valley base, 90 miles northeast of downtown Los Angeles, base spokesman Dennis Shoffner said.

It is not known what went wrong with the test, he said. Damage was confined to the immediate testing area.

The 110-foot rocket was to be "statically fired," or held in a stand while its thrust and performance were measured, Shoffner said.

"The whole reason that you test is to find out how things are going," he said.

"I'm sure we'll learn a lot from this." "This was the first in a series of five tests that we planned to conduct to develop and qualify a new solid rocket motor for the Titan IV launch vehicle," said Frank Stirling, the Titan IV program director. This was a full-scale motor test firing, he said, with a planned thrust of 1.7 million pounds. The motor was 10.5 feet in diameter and weighed 770,000

Bangerter supports UVCC arena bond

PROVO, Utah — Gov. Norm Bangerter has thrown his support behind a new arena at Utah Valley Community College, urging Utah County voters to support a $7.7 million bond to build the facility.

I am supportive of this project and assure you that the state will provide the planning money necessary to begin the design of the facility," Bangerter wrote in a letter to the Utah County Commission.

Also, Bangerter and Lt. Gov. Val Oveson are scheduled to be briefed about the project April 8 at UVCC.

In the letter, the governor urged county residents to vote in favor of the April 9 special bond election. The measure has drawn opposition from the Utah Taxpavers Association.

Bangerter earlier vetoed part of the state appropriations act dealing with planning money for state building projects. The veto wiped out $50,000 UVCC was counting on to design the events center and an adjacent $10 million physical education building.

GM still No. 1 in Fortune 500 listings

NEW YORK — The recession dogged the nation's biggest companies last year, but General Motors Corp. remained No. 1 despite $2 billion in losses, Fortune magazine said Monday in its annual list of 500 top corporations.

A competitive ranking by Forbes magazine of what it calls the "most powerful" American companies did not mention GM because the automaker didn't make any money in 1990. The weakened economy was the dominant theme in the rankings. Fortune said half of the 50 largest industrial companies on its list lost money or earned less. Fortune 500 profits fell 11.7 percent, even though sales rose 6.4 percent.

GM, with more than $126 billion in revenues, retained Fortune's top spot despite a 0.8 percent sales drop. Ford Motor Co. slipped to No. 3 and Chrysler Corp. tumbled three spots to No. 11. Fortune bases its list on total sales and rates only industrial companies. The magazine also compiles separate rankings of the companies by profits, assets, stockholder equity and other financial indicators. Exxon Corp. rose to second place in sales on Fortune's list.

Duke rolls Kansas 72-65 for NCAA title

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Duke ended six years of frustration with a 72-65 victory over Kansas Monday night, its first national title in five championship-game appearances and nine trips to the Final Four.

The scoring and rebounding of Christian Laettner, and the passing and court smarts of Bobby Hurley, gave the Blue Devils (32-7) the victory one year after a 30-point loss to UNLV in the championship game.

It also capped a run of five Final Four appearances since 1986, including the last four years in a row. No school had been to the Final Four as many times as Duke without taking home a title.

They were able to extend the lead as Kansas repeatedly missed shots inside. The lead reached 14 points three times, the last at 65-51 with 6:10 to play, appropriately on a rebound basket by Laettner on a missed 3-pointer by Hurley.

Laettner finished with 18 points, including 12-12 at the free-throw line, and 11 rebounds. Bill McCaffrey had 16 points, Hurley 12 and Grant Hill 10

Pittsburgh has a 9-2-2 record since a March 4 trade that brought defenseman UJlf Samuelsson and center Ron Francis to the team. From that point, the Penguins made up a 12-point deficit to pass the Rangers.

"There's a real good feeling in the locker room these days, given the direction we've taken," Stevens said.

The Devils (32-33-15) can't say the same. They finished fourth in the Patrick and lost their last two games.

"I'm not happy with the last two games," said Tom McVie, who took over from John Cunniff as the Devils' coach on March 4. "Winning is a habit just like losing, and we certainly wanted to go into the playoffs on a winning note.'

While the Devils are now in the playoffs for the third time in the last four years, they have several prob-

Perhaps the most important is finding a way to win on the road. New Jersey's road record included an 0-10-2 mark against division playoff foes.

The Rangers hope to reverse last season's playoff disaster against Washington, when they were knocked out in the division finals in five games. During the regular season, the Rangers won the series 4-2-1 and had a 2-1-1 edge at home.

"We're expecting a hard, physical series, and that's the way we want to play, too," Ranger coach Roger Neilson said. "They've been on a real defensive kick lately. They really cut their goals against down."

Gooden set to get $5 million a year

Associated Press

Dwight Gooden vaulted to No. 2 on baseball's salary list Monday agreeing to a three-year contract extension worth a guaranteed $15.45

The average annual value of $5.15 million places Gooden just behind Boston's Roger Clemens, who will average $5,380,250 during a four-year extension he agreed to on Feb. 8. The two former Cy Young Award winners are the only players with contracts averaging $5 million a year

Gooden becomes the 43rd player with a $3 million-a-year contract and the fifth to top the $4 million mark. Jose Canseco is third at $4.7 million, Tony Gwynn fourth at $4,083,333 and Darryl Strawberry fifth at $4.05

Gooden will be making $2.25 million this year in the final season of a three-year contract worth $6.7 million. When he agreed to the deal on Feb. 8, 1989, it made him the highest-paid player in baseball history. But Clemens passed him one week later with a three-year, $7.5 million contract.

Gooden, 26, was 19-7 last season with a 3.83 ERA. He won the National League Cy Young Award in 1985 with a 24-4 record and a 1.53 Break the Monotony Send a Gift Basket!

Wilderness proposals debated

Representatives disagree on economic impact

By GEOFFREY M. THATCHER Universe Staff Writer

Two Utah members of the U.S. House of Representatives expressed conflicting ideas on the economic impact of preserving Utah's wilderness during Monday's Law School Wilderness Forum.

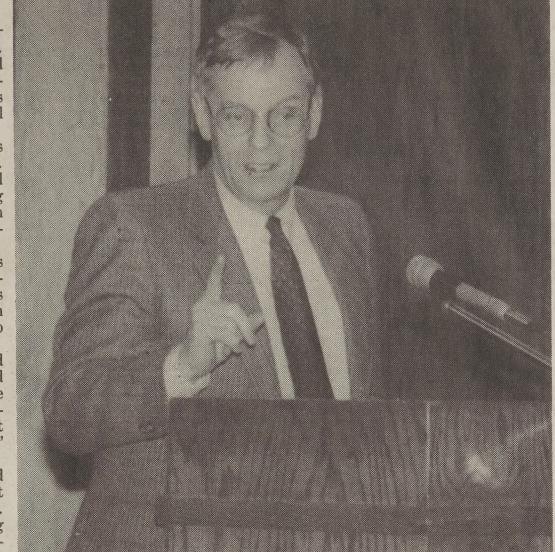

The opinions of Rep. James Hansen, a Republican, and Rep. Wayne Owens, a Democrat, differed on the economic impact of designating land as wilderness. Under the law, an area cannot be developed if it's designated as wilderness.

Hansen's wilderness proposal calls for 1.4 million acres in Utah designated as "wilderness area." Owens is proposing about three times as much land. He proposes 5.4 million acres to be designated as wilderness area.

Hansen said Utah's economy would be hindered by Owens' plan. He said the state's mining, timber and cattle businesses would be hurt by preserving too much land. "Tourism isn't enough to sustain the economy," Hansen said.

Owens, on the other hand, said land designated as wilderness doesn't deny anyone their economic interest. He said the land has few competing interests with mining, timber and cat-tle businesses. "Tourism is fast emerging as the No. 1 economic resource of the state," he said.

Both representatives said environmental issues are the most passionate and emotional issues in the state. Hansen said, "I don't think in my 31 emotional issue."

In the study, the blood pressure and cholesterol levels of 244 men and 147 women participants in the games were measured. Age, sex, education, religion and marital status were also items the study looked at, Heiner said. The information was then compared with national norms for the age group and population in general.

Courtney Knauer, a student working on the study, said the fitness level of the participants was higher than she expected. "They may have looked older, but they sure didn't act older. They acted like they were in their 20s or 30s," Knauer said.

Heiner said the findings of the study are impressive. Heiner and Gray found about 9 out of every 100 participants in the study had cholesterol levels above 200, which is lower than the national normal. He said the national norms set by the American Medical Association suggest about 75 out of every 100 people over 65 have a cholesterol level of 200 or greater.

Kurt Knauer, a student working on the study, said it was impressive that many of the people in their 70s and 80s were in better shape than some of his peers at BYU.

"A common thread among all those tested was a lifestyle of fitness not only during the World Senior Games, but routine fitness during their lives," Heiner said.
Kurt and Courtney said one of the things they liked best about working with the games was sitting down and talking with people.

Kurt said many young people tend to alienate themselves from older people by stereotyping them as being frail and useless people.

The games also bring together a wide group of people of all ages and many of the practitioners in the field of gerontology. BYU involvement with the games includes both resources provided and fitness and wellness seminars offered to participants.

Students involved in the gerontology minor work at the games as part of their internship. It is this uncommon mix of the elderly, the young and practitioners in the field that makes the games such a great experience for students, Heiner Dick Bennion Jewel 59 South Main • SLC • 364-366 20% Student Discoun DIAMONDS Parking Validated

A trial date was set for a retired BYU employee charged with sexual misconduct with a minor, during 4th District Court proceedings Friday.

William O. Hayes, 64, of Highland, pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity. After a 90-day evaluation, Hayes was found competent to stand trial on May 15.

Hayes is charged with first-degree sexual abuse, sodomy and rape of a child. There is also a second-degree charge of attempted rape and furnishing liquor to a minor, a class A misdemeanor, against Hayes.

Thirty men are suspected of having sexual relations with the same partially-retarded 14-year-old girl. Five of the men have been charged.

considerable revenue loss By STEVEN E. MORGAN Universe Staff Writer

Software piracy is a form of theft equivalent to the theft of income, said a representative of WordPerfect

Ryan Richards, corporate attorney international at WordPerfect Corp., said software pirates are taking potential revenue away from those who have worked for it.

"It is estimated in some countries that there are 8 to 10 illegal copies for every legal copy of software," Richards said.

He said the ratio in the United States is considered by experts to be only about one to one.

Richards said piracy is responsible for many millions of lost revenue his company assesses each year.
The Software Publishers Association, an organization made up of 600 to 700 software publishers in the United States, estimates piracy-related losses for the industry at $2 billion a year.

"The loss of revenue associated with widespread pirating is a threat to every software developer," said John Hild, president of XYQUEST, a company specializing in word processing software.

Judy Mintz, marketing manager at XYQUEST, said while her company has also experienced great losses because of piracy, many "pirates" do not realize the seriousness of their offense.

"If someone were to take your computer, they would know that they took something," she said. "Consumers do not realize that they are breaking the law (because) people do not put the same value on intellectual property."

Richards, like Mintz, said the lack of a tangibility contributes to the piracy problem.

"They don't acknowledge theft be-cause they are not stealing a physical object," he said.

Both Richards and Mintz agree that the problem dealing with piracy will not be easily resolved.

"It is just so widespread. (Piracy) will always exist because of the low-risk factor," Richards said.

Mintz said because of the high court costs involved in the prosecution pro-

Mintz said the real tragedy resulting from piracy involves those who work long hours to develop the soft-
